Driving lessons in Wales can restart on monday 12 April.

Transport secretary Grant Shapps said driving tests will resume 10 days later on 22 April and to help clear the backlog of candidates, the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency will offer more tests and examiners, including at weekends and on bank holidays.

Driving tests for motorcycles, lorries and cars with trailers can also take place from 12 April.

On-line booking resumes immediately.

The learner situation has become chaotic with the pandemic disrupting lessons and tests and candidates will have to follow Coronavirus protection measures.
